

Jaypee Public School, Noida Pi Approximation Day

Pi Approximation Day, observed on July 22nd, is a special occasion to celebrate the mathematical Constant π (pi) and its significance in our lives.

We, at Jaypee Public School, Noida celebrated Pi Approximation Day with full vigour and enthusiasm in various classes. Our students engaged in a series of fascinating Math activities, and their enthusiasm was contagious!

The aim of the celebration was to foster a deeper understanding of this unique number while making learning a fun and interactive experience for our students.

The engagement and enthusiasm displayed by the students were truly remarkable, and we are immensely proud of their active participation in the festivities.
