

Radio Show with self-composed jingles

*"But words are things, and a small drop of ink,
Falling like dew, upon a thought, produces
That which makes thousands, perhaps millions, think."*

—George Gordon, Lord Byron

Literature can be much more than just cream-colored pages of a book. It can be a big world full of charming forms, each with its own identity. In the same pursuit, the students of grade 10th, each inspired to discover their creative selves, enthusiastically participated in a Radio Show activity during Literary Week from 24th April to 29th April 2023.

With catchy self-composed jingles and engaging topics, the students of each houses displayed their hidden talents. They also enhanced their oratory and language skills, imagination, creativity, and teamwork. This activity was one out of the numerous enjoyable activities that gave students a platform to learn how to express their ideas and views in different ways. Literary Week was indeed a fun and educative experience for all the students where they got an opportunity to respect and love literature.
